

MÖBIUS MASTERPIECES

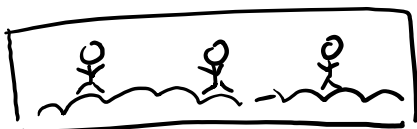

Made by Asmita Sodhi

1. With a long edge of the paper strip as the bottom of your comic, draw a character moving in one direction through their surroundings (left or right). You should draw your character 3-5 times.

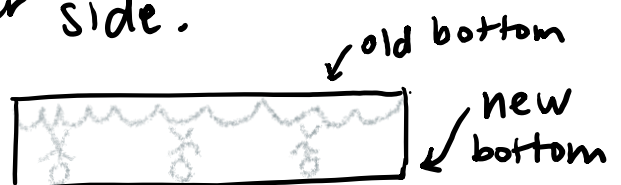

What could your character be doing?

- going for a walk
- flying in space
- swimming underwater
- exploring a cave
- or anything you like!

2. Flip your paper over along the long edge, so that the new bottom of the paper is not the same as on the other side.

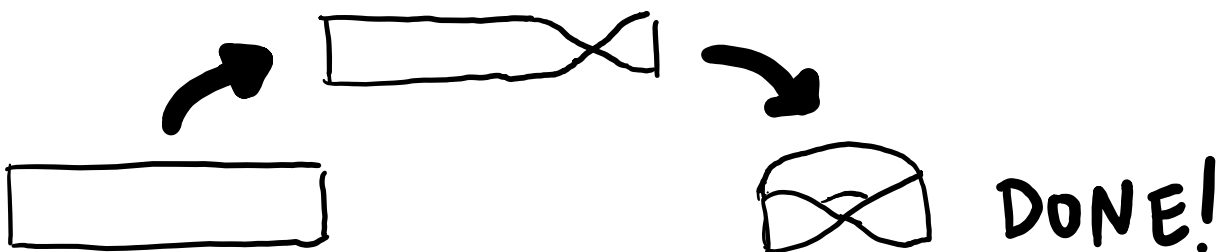

FLIP!

3. Draw your character moving again, through the same surroundings and in the same direction as in Step 1. Maybe they see something really cool along the way!

4. If you haven't done so already, add any colour and text you'd like your comic to have, on both sides of the paper.

5. Put together your Möbius Masterpiece! Lay your strip of paper flat on the table. Pick up one short end of the paper while holding the other end down, and give the end in your hand a twist so you see the other side of your comic. Tape the two ends together with the twist, and admire your amazing continuous comic!
